Title- An Unequal World

Development	How wealth and the quality of life of people living on our planet varies from place to place.
LIC	Low Income Country e.g. Afghanistan, Yemen
NEE	Newly Emerging Economy e.g Nigeria,
HIC	High Income Country e.g UK, USA
Development Indicator	A measure used to record how developed a country is
Development Gap	Difference in levels of development between the world's richest (HIC's) and poorest (LIC's) countries.
Fairtrade	Trade between developed countries and developing countries in which fair prices are paid to farmers
Aid	A more developed country/charity provides a less developed area with support- for example food or medicine
Tourism	People visiting another area/country on holiday
Trade	Buying and selling goods and services

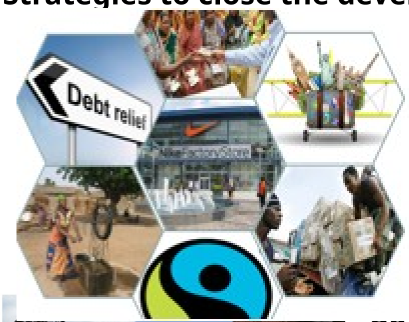
Powerful knowledge

List of development indicators

GNI
Life Expectancy
Birth Rate
Death Rate
Infant Mortality Rate
Car ownership
Literacy rate
Access to safe water
Number of Doctors
% of people living in urban areas
Employment Structure
Access to Technology (mobile phones)
CO2 Emissions
Food Consumption

HIC	LIC	NEE
Example 1: UK Example 2: Germany	Example 1: Malawi Example 2: Kenya	Example 1: Brazil Example 2: China
1. Reliable clean water supplies and sanitation	1. Shortage of safe clean water and low levels of health	1. Improving technologies and infrastructure
2. Good balance of trade	2. Unstable governments	2. High rates of economic development
3. Stable governments	3. High levels of international migration	3. High levels of investment

Strategies to close the development gap



2015 Nepal earthquake impacted development negatively, due to collapsed buildings and over 8000 deaths

Tourism can be a good way for countries to earn an income.

Many LICs and newly emerging economies (NEE's) benefit from tropical climates, exotic ecosystems and beautiful landscapes.

Tourists will travel to visit these locations. They spend a lot of money, which helps countries to develop.

Civil war in Yemen started in 2014. This has impacted Yemen's development negatively, due to bombing of ports and an unstable economy